What do you appreciate most about Crestone?

Alix Landry

Community and a sense of belonging. Crestone is the first place I have lived where I truly felt I belonged. I love that there are so many opportunities to connect with folks and be a part of this wonderful community.

Crestone allows us to express ourselves outside of the box mainstream society wants us to fit in and experience an unbelievable diversity in cultures and nature! Crestone feels more like home than anywhere else we have lived, THANK YOU!

Shawn Maminakis

Small community and the mosquitoes... because if it wasn't for them there would be at least two times as many people here.

My favorite thing about Crestone is the sense of community here. I've never been in a place with so much love and support. This community has so many people who are willing to look out for and help each other.

people do it so frequently and so often without expecting anything in return. It amazes me.

Karen Barbee

What I appreciate the most about Crestone is the pace of life, really, that people have time to stop and talk. And the level of care people have for each other, to me, is astounding, and things that have gotten lost in the rest of the world are still accessible here, like care and beauty and joy and supporting each other through hard times. It's just kind of mind-blowing to me how precious it is here.

Amber Travis-Ballinas

What I most appreciate about Crestone is how open and welcoming and unjudgmental people are of each other.

In my virgin year and a half experience here (I feel like I've been here a decade!) it has aged me. But it has aged me in the most brilliant way to understand a sense of community, a sense of peace, a sense of evil, a sense of beauty and a sense of hope. And it has brought me to the happiest point I've ever been in my life.
